CONDUCTORS' CAFÉ

On Sunday, 24th September, IFCM presented the inaugural International Conductors' Café event. This interactive and informative session took place through Zoom and was livestreamed on Facebook, attracting a significant audience from across the globe. With approximately 50 pre-registrations from various countries, the diverse group of participants included conductors, all eager to engage in the discussion and gain valuable insights on conducting techniques and best practices. In addition to the registered attendees, we were thrilled to see that the Facebook livestream attracted over 600 viewers. This broader audience was able to benefit from the event's content and actively contributed to the discussion through comments and questions.

The International Conductors' Café featured renowned choral conductors who graciously shared their expertise and experiences in the field. Moderated by Maria Guinand, IFCM Board member from Venezuela, were invited to share topics in which they are most interested as well their current work in order that IFCM might focus more specifically on these interests in the future. The Zoom platform allowed for active participation, including engaging group discussions. The livestream on Facebook provided an accessible alternative for those unable to register or attend the event live, effectively extending the reach of the International Conductors' Café.

Overall, the event was a great success, offering a valuable exchanging opportunity for conductors. It showcased IFCM's commitment to promoting excellence and fostering global connections within the choral community. We would like to express our gratitude to the conductors who shared their expertise, the participants who actively engaged in the discussion, and the audience members who followed the event on Facebook. We are proud to provide in future a platform for knowledge exchange and networking in these challenging times, and we look forward to organizing more impactful events for our members.

EMPOWERING THE FUTURE OF CHORAL MUSIC: THE VISION OF YOUNG IFCM

Since its launch in August 2023, YOUNG IFCM has passionately deliberated on its potential role in shaping the future of choral music. After engaging in comprehensive discussions on the subject, we reached a consensus on the missions we aspire to achieve in and beyond our term. First, we aim to amplify young voices in the choral world. Youth voices are the heartbeat of choral music's future. Our committee is dedicated to providing a platform for young choral leaders, conductors, composers, and singers to share their unique perspectives and talents across different nations. Through initiatives such as webinars, podcasts, and interactive online forums, we plan to provide a global platform for these voices, offering them the recognition and support they deserve. We also want to ensure the integration of activities directed to young people in the festivals, which serve as the backbone of the choral music. Another goal of YOUNG IFCM is to connect choral enthusiasts across generations. We firmly believe that the exchange of experiences and ideas between experienced choral professionals and the emerging generation is vital for the continued growth of choral music worldwide. Our aim is to facilitate mentorship programs, workshops, and collaborative projects that bridge the generational gap, fostering a sense of unity and shared purpose.

Finally, we wish to create spaces for education. We envision a choral world in which young talents have access to high-quality education, resources, and avenues for new experiences. To realize this vision with maximum accessibility, we plan to develop online educational content and collaborate with established regional and local organizations to curate workshops.

In our pursuit of these goals, we are committed to leveraging the power of social media and online tools. Webinars, podcasts, and other digital platforms will serve as our primary means of engaging with youth from all corners of the globe. These media will allow us to connect, educate, and inspire young choral enthusiasts, regardless of geographical boundaries.

Stay tuned for more updates from YOUNG IFCM as we work to bring our vision to life and make a lasting impact on the choral world!

IFCM is happy to present a new member of YOUNG IFCM to represent the Sub-Saharan Africa region: Gilles Lamere from Cameroon. Welcome to Gilles!

MUSICA INTERNATIONAL

Goldmine of choral repertoire with unrestricted access for the IFCM members

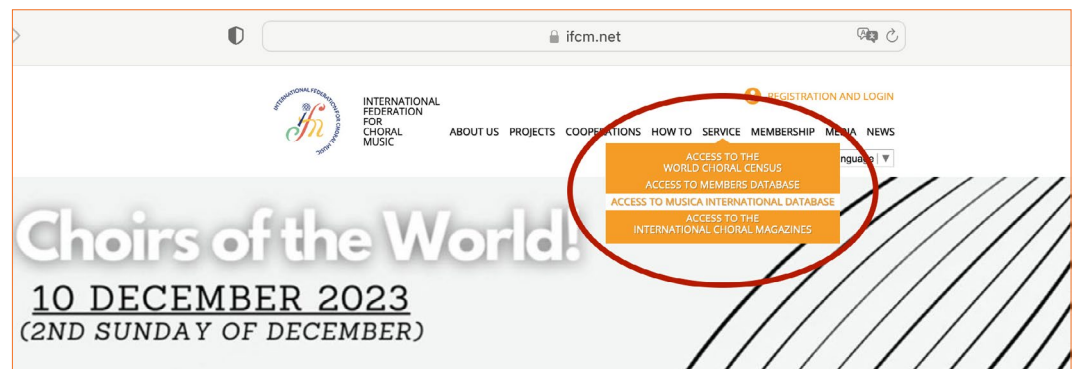

Musica International is a multilingual collaborative database of choral repertoire which references comprehensively more than 200,000 choral titles. As IFCM is a founding member of Musica International, all IFCM members receive unrestricted, privileged access to the Musica database through IFCM's website: www.ifcm.net. But what does it mean?

As an IFCM membership benefit, global privileges to the Musica database include:

- Access to Musica via the IFCM website without additional login (There is no need to remember another password).
- Unlimited number of results after search. For example, if you search for SATB Christmas works, you can access all 9000+ results and are not restricted only to the first 50 ones. Of course, you may decide to add other criteria to refine the search and reduce the number of results.
- Access to the 'Auditorium' of audio and video clips (several thousands) which are catalogued alphabetically by the composer's name.
- Access to the jubilees of composers for the current year and the three following years.

Non IFCM-members may obtain restricted access to the database by signing up (free) at www.musicanet.org.

Composers, publishers, and conductors who wish to have access to direct online input of information on choral scores should submit a request to librarian@musicanet.org.
