

World Choral Day Proclamation

Sing, choirs of the world!

May your voices rise where people are silenced.

May your songs reach across the lines that divide us.

May your listening make room for stories too often unheard.

Sing for freedom where fear rules.

Sing for dignity where poverty and displacement persist.

Sing for understanding where hatred takes hold.

May your singing inspire us to act:

So that peace can take root where war has torn lives apart,

So that we care for the earth we share,

So that no one is excluded because of race, colour, identity, or belief,

So that we meet our differences with curiosity rather than fear,

And so that every person can find a place among our voices.
